FATALLY INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE WHILE PLAYING IN STREET

Little Thomas D. Fitzgerald, the 3½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, was struck by an automobile and killed, Monday afternoon, while he was playing in the street near his home at 1032 Brunswick street.

The automobile, driven by Alphonso Taforo, of 287 Moultrie street, San Francisco, was coming slowly down Brunswick street near Templeton avenue when the child suddenly ran in front of the maching. In endeavoring to avoid hitting the child, the driver ran his car up on the sidewalk.

Immediately following the accident Mr. Taforo picked the child up and took him to St. Luke's hospital, but on arrival it was found that he had passed away. The child received a compound fracture of the skull and his chest wsa crushed.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the family home on Brunswick street. Interment was at Holy Cross cemetery. Besides his mother and father, young Thomas leaves a younger brother and sister.

TWO GIRLS CELEBRATE EIGHTEENTH BIRTHDAY

Last Saturday evening a joint birthday party was given to the Misses Rose Berttetta and Alma Passalacqua, in honor of their eighteenth birthday, at the home of Mrs. A. Arata, 58 Peoria street, the latter being Mrs. Arata's sister. The decorations were carried out in the color scheme of yellow and white. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing to the music of the accordion and banjo. Refreshments were served at midnight, after which dancing was continued until the early hours of the morning. Both young ladies received beautiful gifts from their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Arata were hosts to the following: Misses Alma Passalacqua, Rose Berttetta, Frances Spani, Mary Nolan, Ariel Fischer, Margaret Twesten, Blance Romeguiere, Lorraine Gregoire, Delia Gregoire, Peggy Fielding, Marian Schwabe; Messrs. Julius Selmi, Reno Boni, Angelo Stampanoni, Herman Laurence, Hynie Laurence, Lester Balestri, George Bertucci, Harold Oakes, Cesar Figari, Mil Aleione, Les Vincent, William Gregoire, Louis Berttetta, Marigo Ballentini, Yolando Checky, Walter Murphy, Martin Powers, William Schwabe, Louis Devencenzi.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE AWARDED GOLDEN EMBLEM

At a meeting of the student body of Jefferson Union high school last Friday, the members of the football team was presented with gold footballs, this emblem being given in appreciation for their splendid record last season. The following boys received the footballs: Laurence Kennedy, captain; Charles Aiello, Morris Plansky, Eugene Keagle, Richard Perata, Albert Brush, Albert Banfield, Bill Gohl, Earl Friend, Paul Williams, Cleon Abbott and David Jenkins. Professor James Ferguson was also presented with one of these prized emblems, in recognition of his services to the football boys.

CELEBRATES NINTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. H. R. Faltin, of 363 Evergreen avenue, was the hostess for several of her little daughter's friends on Friday afternoon of last week, the occasion being in honor of Dorothea's ninth birthday. The afternoon was spen in playing games, after which the youngsters were invited into the dining room, where a table prettily decorated and laden with good things to eat awaited them. A large birthday cake, bon bons, fancy caps and nut shells with little prizes in them delighted the children. Dorothea received many pretty gifts. Those present were Selma Anderson, Hazel Liljeberg, Rita Skov, Arthur Belli, May Swan, Tommy Doyle, Anita Faltin and Cora Faltin.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Haywood G. Killeen were hosts at a party at their home, 51 Risel avenue, last Saturday evening. The first part of the evening was spent playing whist and at midnight a tempting supper was served by the hostess, after which games were played. Those enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Felsch, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Killeen, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spreckelmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stacey, Miss Henrietta Killeen, Mr. G. M. Fogarty, Mr. Jas. Killeen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thorpe and Mrs. Sarah Plumlee.

PARENTS' NIGHT AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Those who attended Parent's night at the Jefferson Union high school last fall will be glad to know that a similar event is to be held on next Wednesday evening, February 8, at 7 o'clock.

The purpose of Parents' night is to enable the parents to become acquainted with the work of the high school and the principal and teachers. The regular periods of the school day are held, and parents pass from one class to another just as their children do throughout the school term. This enables the parents to meet the principal and teachers and makes them thoroughly acquainted with the actual working of the school throughout the entire day.

In the class rooms the instructors explain the work in each subject, so that parents may know what their children are studying and how much home preparation should be given each subject.

Principal Ferguson extends a cordial and urgent invitation to every patron of the high school to be present on this occasion. It will make possible greater co-operation between the home and the school in the interests of the high school boys and girls. The session will last from 7 until 9 o'clock.

GRACE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

It has been well said that the only passport to immortality is service, and no church or organization has a right to ask or expect the support of the community unless it is willing to give real service in return.

Our C. E. has taken on new life, as is manifest in the increased attendance and also in the effort to build up the congregation at the preaching services.

The committee on music for the last Sabbath evening worked well and faithful, and we were rewarded by three splendid special numbers, piano solos by Katharine Welsh and Mildred Swan, both of which were well received and appreciated, also the duet by Sybil and Dorothy Riddell, and can say that we are always glad for these sisters to sing for us.

The special committee, new each service, have promised us some special numbers this Sabbath.

Special services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. On account of the C. E. convention of the City Federation, and the desire for all members to participate, we have decided to have a morning worship this Sabbath at 11 o'clock, just following the Bible school, and as Miss Mildred Swan is the chairman for the attendance this service, we hope that all may come and spend an hour with us. No evening service February 5.

The luncheon given by the Ladies' Guild of the church on Wednesday was well patronized and not only was a good meal served, but all enjoyed the fine fellowship together, and we are endeavoring to make this occasion a real get together meeting of each month.

The annual congregational dinner and meeting will be held on Thursday evening, March 1. Dinner will be served at 6:30, followed by election of officers for the year, and then a program of good music and a general good time.

Tickets will be printed and you will be solicited and we trust that you will help us to make this a huge success in all ways.

CHAS. H. GATCHELL, Minister.

CORONER'S JURY DECIDES WOMAN COMMITTED SUICIDE

A suicide verdict was brought in by a coroner's jury after an investigation into the death of Mrs. D. Le Buin, of Colma, on Wednesday night of last week. The inquest was conducted at the W. C. Lasswell mortuary estaolishment in Daly City under the direction of Coroner J. C. McGovern. The testimony showed that Mrs. Le Buin suffered from a slight mental illness for some time and that she was despondent over her condition. She had also suffered a heart attack a week previous to ending her life. Funeral services were held from Daly City. Interment was at Cypress Lawn.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION DANCE PROVES DECIDED SUCCESS

The balloon dance at the Jefferson Union high school auditorium last Friday night, sponsored by the members of the Jefferson Alumni Association was a successful affair, both socially and financially. In addition to the youthful dancers, there was a good representation of the trustees, teachers and mothers of the members of the association. The dance was given for the benefit of the Alumni scholarship award of $100, which was won last year by Edna Smith, of the class of '27.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT AT MILLS FIELD IS MODEL FOR NATION

Business got off to a flying start for 1928 at Mills Field, San Francisco's municipal airport, according to the January report just filed by Supervisor Milo F. Kent, chairman of the city's airport committee.

The report shows 918 flights and landings, carrying 1,162 passengers, without a single mishap, to and from all parts of the United States. This makes a total of 3,813 flights and landings and 5,722 passengers since Mills Field opened for business last May. Hundreds of tons of mail and marchandise also have been handled in the Mills Field service.

In the eight and one-half months of Mills Field operation, business has grown continuously, necessitating constant expansion of the equipment. New hangars are now being built at Mills Field to accommodate the increasing demands of commercial aviation, and the board of supervisors is considering acquiring additional land adjacent to the 250 acres now in use at Mills Field, where several flying schools and agencies of airplane manufacturers have leased space.

Mills Field is now generally recognized as "the model municipal airport of America," and many cities have secured its plans to follow in the construction of airports.

After an extensive survey of airports in the San Francisco bay region, Mills Field has been selected as the terminus for a new passenger line to be opened March 5 between San Francisco and Seattle by the West Coast Air Trasport Company.

FATHER AND SON NIGHT AT METHODIST CHURCH

A father and his tiny son
Crossed a rough street one stormy day.
"See, papa," cried the little one,
"I stepped in your steps all the way.

If this man shirks his manhood's due,
And heeds what lying voices say,
It is not one who falls, but two!
"I stepped in your steps all the way."

But they who thrust off greed and fear,
Who love and watch, who toil and pray,
How their hearts carol when they hear:
"I stepped in your steps all the way."

—Roy Temple House.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock the Daly City Methodist church will observe "Father and Son Night." All the men of the community are invited to come and bring their sons, and if you haven't a son, borrow one for the occasion. Better still, bring the whole family, for everybody will be interested in this service.

The Boy Scouts will be our guests on this occasion, as they are celebrating their annual Boy Scout Sunday. They will take part in the service.

Professor T. Eugene Goudey will play for the entire service. Stanley V. Lewis lyric tenor, of San Francisco, will sing a special solo. You can not afford to miss this special music.

Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock, the pastor's subject will be, "Behold the Man." You will enjoy this service.

Sunday school at 10 a. m. Epworth League at 7 p. m.

Religion is essential in the building of character. You need it as well as your children.

The pastor has had a telephone installed in his study at the church. The telephone number is Delaware 2131.

We are pleased to announce that Professor T. Eugene Goudey will play for the evening service as a regular feature. Professor Goudey is a nationally known character, having played many times over radio KPO. Lovers of music will enjoy his piano solos during the service.

STATE-WIDE HUNT FOR BOY IS ENDED

Fred Daugero, 14-year-old freshman at the Polytechnic high school of San Francisco, was on Tuesday turned over to the juvenile authorities of San Francisco by the San Mateo county detention home, where he has been held during a state-wide search for his whereabouts. Young Laugero's mother became alarmed Sunday when her son did not return home and notified the authorities. He was found in the detention home, where he had been placed by Traffic Officer James Dalziel, who took the boy into custody following an automobile accident near Belmont. Investigation showed that the car had been stolen, but efforts to find the owner have been unsuccessful.

SAN MATEO COUNTY BOY SCOUTS BEGIN DRIVE FOR FUNDS

At a meeting held in San Mateo, the general campaign committee fixed the week beginning February 6 as the time for the annual drive to secure funds to support the Boy Scout movement in this county for another year.

Scout Executive Edward Barrer has submitted an expense budget totaling $9,500 as necessary to carry on the work for 1928. This total includes the requirements of the Scout camp this year in Memorial Park, in this county.

Scouting has taken a thorough hold on the people of San Mateo county in the three years that active interest has been centered in the movement. Troops are maintained in most of the communities and the number of boys now wearing the Scout uniform is increasing rapidly. Last year a large number of boys were turned down who wanted to go into camp in Memorial Grive. But funds were lacking for a second session of camping, and only 250 boys could be taken at the camp at one time. These were entertained and cared for in the camp for a period of two weeks. It is planned this year, finances permitting, to run the camp for a second two weeks period, thus accommodating double the number of last year.

There are now 700 members of the twenty-four Boy Scout troops in this county. Leaders, adult and otherwise, to the number of 150 are devoting themselves to Scout work.

The committee, in appealing to the citizens of San Mateo county for financial assistance, feel that they are offering to the friends of Scouting and the public at large an opportunity not only to contribute but to invest in Boyhood, Preferred—one of America's greatest assets.

President Coolidge, honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, has said: "The Boy Scout movement's fundamental object is character building and training for citizenship. Good character means a mental and moral fiber of high order, that may be woven into the fabric of the community and state, tending to build a great nation."

The general campaign committee for the county is composed of the following: Bruce S. Gibson, chairman; Jas. D. Hedge, J. D. Bramfield, Dr. E. K. Sisson, C. J. Eldridge, G. H. Arthur, Robert G. Hooker, Jr., Dr. F. H. Smith, E. Britton, F. H. Thrall, S. D. Merk, P. A. Oliver, Mrs. W. J. Hayes.

Redwood City will have a quota of $1,250, Burlingame $2,500, San Mateo $2,800, Hillsborough $2,000 and the rest of the county will be asked to raise the remainder of the total of $9,500.

YOUTHS NARROWLY ESCAPE DROWNING

Three Burlingame boys, William Clinite, Wilbur Ohran and Kenneth Ohran, had a close call from drowning last Sunday in the rough waters of the bay. The boys were bathing on the beach near Burlingame when they decided to venture from the shore on a raft. Soon after they had floated the raft, they were caught by an ebb tide and floated several hundred yards from the shore. Failure of the boys to return from the beach brought a call to the Burlingame police, who sought the assistance of the San Francisco police boat, which searched the various coves and the open water without result. The boys finnally managed to paddle back to the shore after they had beeen practically given up for lost. The boys claim they had a narrow escape from drowning and for some time after they left the shore they believed they would be carried out to sea.

SUPERVISORS PLAN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Members of the San Mateo county board of supervisors are devising plans to attend the eighteenth annual convention of the County Supervisors' Association of the State of California, to be held in San Francisco, March 6, 7 and 8, and in Los Angeles on March 9. After the three-day session in San Francisco, the members of the association will go to Los Angeles by special train to attend the Western Road and Equipment exposition, to be held in the southern city.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Emmarillis Gehringer was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party given at her home, 67 Woodrow street, Saturday evening of last week. The guests included Clara Hammer, Mildred Swan, Evelyn McKee, Marie Walker, Cecila Nelson, Susan McKeown and Nelle Van Heusden. Miss Gehringer was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Gelsi Fileppo, 380 San Diego avenue, one room addition.

TRADE OUTLOOK FOR YEAR IS EXCELLENT

The outlook for the automibel industry in 1928 is most promising, according to trade reports received by the California State Automobile Association. Some of the factors mentioned in these report are:

Increased highway building is noted in many countries.

There is a decided trend towards driving by the entire family, particularly the women.

Bus lines are being either inaugurated or extended everywhere.

Use of trucks, particularly those of light capacity, by farmers in road building and in small trades is increasing at a phenomenal rate, as evidenced by the remarkable gains made by this class of exports in 1927.

Competent observers estimate that Europe will take 150,000 vehicles of American make in 1928.

Economic gains expected over the next two years in South America promise to increase motor vehicle sales.

REGISTRATION IN COUNTY SHOWING BIG INCREASE

More than 6,000 registrations had been filed with County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese by registrars, it was announced last Saturday morning by Chief Deputy County Clerk Eleanor Falvey. This number is one-fifth of the total registration expected this year, according to Miss Falvey. More than 24,000 registered in 1926, an increase of 4,000 over the preceding two years. An increase of 6,000 voters is expected this year.

NEW BANK FOR SAN CARLOS

Construction has been started on a new bank and store building, to cost approximately $35,000, at San Carlos. It will be ready for occupancy about March 15, according to John W. Rutherdale, the builder. A Spanish exterior is planned by the architect, with a luxurious interior, including modern saftey vaults in line with the latest ideas of banking houses.

MISSING MAN FOUND AT FOOT OF CLIFF WITH NECK BROKEN

The mystery which surrounded the disappearance of Antonio Fracchia, a carpenter, from his home in South San Francisco on January 3, was solved late last Tuesday with the finding of his body in the hills near his home. An examination showed that Fracchia's neck had been broken in two places, and it is believed he fell from a small cliff overhanging the place where the body was found.

It is understood that Fracchia had been in poor health for some time and that he was in the habit of getting up during the night and going out for a walk. About midnight on January 3 he donned his clothing and left the house. The next morning when he had not returned the police were notified, but no clue to his whereabouts was uncovered.

Tuesday evening, Julio Conti, of 86 Randolph avenue, South San Francisco, was returning from work and stumbled over the body of Fracchia. He notified Chief of Police Louis Belloni, who had the body removed to the offices of Deputy Coroner Silvio Nieri.

An autopsy showed that death was due to a broken neck, according to Dr. T. C. Doak. It is believed that the unfortunate man came to his death accidentally when he slipped from the cliff.

Fracchia is survived by two grown sons, Jacimo and Carlo, and his widow.

Mrs. Mary Huber, aged 70, member of a prominent San Mateo county family, who was found dead in bed last Tuesday morning at 175 Grant avenue, Redwood City, is believed to have lost her life by accidentally leaving open a gas jet on a kitchen range. The dicovery of the tragedy was made by Mrs. J. W. Smith, of San Francisco, daughter of the dead woman, who investigated when she failed to receive word from her mother in the morning.

Members of the Redwood City fire department were called with an inhalator and endeavered to restore life. Mrs. Huber was found in a small room off the kitchen, where she had retired Monday night. The door leading into the kitchen was open and the range jet was partly open, having flooded both rooms with gas fumes, it is said.

Mrs. Huber, who was born in Redwood City and had previously made her home there, had been recently living in San Francisco, but went to Redwood City to look over her property on Grant avenue. She was alone in the house and is believed to have retired without getting the gas jet fully closed.

UNWANTED BABY HIDDEN IN WILLOWS

An investigation has been launched by San Mateo county authorities to determine the identity of a three-months-old baby boy, who apparently was abandoned to die in a clump of willow trees near South San Francisco. The child's body was discovered Saturday morning by Policeman Vincent Bianchini of South San Francisco, and was taken to the undertaking parlors of Deupty Coroner S. Nieri, South San Francisco.

The deputy coroner, after an examination of the remains, said that apparently the child had been abandoned to die. It was placed in a large paper box ad wrapped in woollen blankets of cheap appearance. From the way the blankets had been kicked around in the box, Nieri is inclined to believe that the child struggled considerably before death. Nieri is quoted as saying that the child was of Mexican or Italian descent, and that it had evidently been ill for some time before its death, which apparently occurred two weeks before the finding of the body.

OCEAN SHORE WINS DECISION

By a decision by the District Court of Appeals, reversing a decision of the Superior Court at Redwood City, title to property in the Lake Merced district, formerly a right-of-way in use by the Ocean Shore railway, has been regranted to the railroad company. Title to the property was contested by the Spring Valley Water Company on the ground that it had been abandoned by the railway, this contention being upheld in the Superior Court. The Appellate Court found that title to the land remains with the railway, despite the tearing up of tracks in 1920. The land was turned over to the railway company by the water company in 1907, it is stated in the decision.

THE UNDERLYING CAUSES OF CRIME

The so-called crime wave has been much discussed. Authorities on crime believe that the continual printing of crime stories with pictures and minute details probably incites certain types of minds to the thought of crime.

A leader in crime study says he does not believe the oft-expressed thought that the late war tended to produce criminals, for few in the ranks were of the type to make professional criminals. He states that those who were children in the years from 1914 to 1921, are now young people; that during the war they heard many unwholesome thoughts expressed. They heard their elders talking how to get all the sugar and other essentials they could, despite government appeals for conservation. They saw developed a spirit of defiance and individual disregard for law.

The average person's income was greatly increased, extravagant ideas were developed by children and the grown-ups. Many preferred to indulge in great luxuries rather than pay taxes prescribed by law. These habits extended beyond the family through institutions. There developed an unwholesome atmosphere breathed by the children of the age, which children are now the young men and women from whom the majority of those committing crimes come.

The fact that this theory may not be in accord with that held by the majority, is one of the justifications for the existence of the National Crime Commission, which is trying to assimilate all the theories it can bring together, and hopes to evolve from them reasonable explanations and practical remedies.

A Chicago woman was in Paris recently when she became very anxious to talk to her husband in New York. Finding that transatlantic telephony had not yet been extended to the continent, she hurried from Paris to London by airplane, where she put through the call from her London hotel, returning to Paris again the next morning by airplane.

RUSSIAN VILLAGE FOUND IN MEXICO

Using old world methods of agriculture on new world soil, a colony of Russian peasants has become firmly established in Mexico, according to Oscar Schmieder, Associate Professor of Geography at the University of California, who visited the strange village during the recent holidays.

"Determinedly raising wheat in a country where wheat is virtually unknown, merely because their fathers raised it in Russia, these Russian peasants have as nearly as possible duplicated one of their native villages on foreign soil. Their houses are designed like Russian houses; they wear long beards and smoks, and govern themselves through the forms of village goverment they have known," according to Professor Schmeider.

The peasants of the colony, who left Russia because of religious prosecution founded their village more than twenty years ago near Guadaloupe, Mexico. Today they number 500 and have a ranch of about 13,000 acres, which due to their out-of-date farming methods, they are rapidly impoverishing, Professor Schmeider says.

"The 'Mir,' or village committee, functions here much as in their native country. It passes all laws for local self-goverment. Although the Mexican goverment has established a school in the colony, in an attempt to assimilate these people, the Russians remain absolutely apart, retaining most of their old customs and culture," he stated.

The reglious sect to which the peasants belong is called "Molokanye" and hence have no priests. Their ideas conflicted with those of the Russian goverment and they emigrated to Mexico.

Although many of the younger generation of Russians are leaving the colony to come to the United States, and although the land is becoming improverished, Professor Schmieder believes that the colony is permanent. "The Russian farmers can easily lease new wheat lands, letting their own fields lie fallow until they are restored; and enough of the young people enjoy the tranquil farm life to keep the colony going," he says.

MISS PAULINE FREDERICK AT THE LURIE THEATRE

Miss Pauline Frederick, one of America's most beautiful and accomplished actresses, will be the attraction at the Lurie Theatre, San Francisco, beginning next Monday, February 6. The coming of Miss Frederick to this city will be notable for several reasons. As an actress she ranks among the first, not only on the American stage, but wherever the English language is spoken. It will be the first appearance in spoken drama of Miss Frederick in the United States since her triumphant tour of Great Britain, where she was acclaimed the greatest tragic actress that had played there since the immortal Bernhardt. It will also be the first performance of the new play, "The Scarlet Woman," by Zelda Sears and Reita Lambert, the play in which Miss Frederick intends to appear in London in the early summer.

"The Scarlet Woman," despite the underworld character of its title, is one of the merriest of comedies. The name is fastened upon the heroine of the story by a group of gossiping women, when after an absence of some time from home she returns with an infant from a foundling asylum that she has charitably adopted. The committee on morals of the local woman's club sees to it that she is duly branded, but after amusing herself with the blunders of the committee, the young woman clears her character and has a good laugh on her would-be traducers.

Miss Frederick brings with her a supporting company of unusual excellence, in which are such clever players as Thomas Holding, who played the title role in "Ben Hur" a few years ago; Marie Shotwell, at one time the leading lady of James O'Neil; Frank Raymond, a former musical comedy star; Lillian Elliott, Norman Peck, who played the young Swede in "The Cradle Snatchers;" Henry Hall, once a star well known in the middle west; and several others of note.

TELEPHONE NOW LINKS CANADA WITH MEXICO

Not only is it now possible to talk from any Bell system telephone station in the United States to Mexico City and other points in Mexico, but a call can be put through as far north as Ottawa, Canada, to Mexico City. Thus a call from Ottawa to Mexico City travels through the United States by way of Montreal, New York, Toledo, Chicago, St. Louis, Dallas, San Antonio and Laredo, and thence by way of Saltillo and S. Luis Potosi to Mexico City—a distance of 3,500 miles.

STATE THEATRE TO HAVE INTERESTING ATTRACTIONS

The State Theatre has booked a number of interesting attractions for the coming week. Next Sunday, the double bill will be Jetta Goudal in "White Gold," and Betty Compson in "Cheating Cheaters," with the opening chapter of "Perils of the Jungle."

On Sunday, Fred Thompson in "Silver Comes Through," and Ralph Graves in "Woman Power."

Monday's bill includes Constance Talmadge in "Venus of Venice," and Nancy Nash in "Rich But Honest," while on Tuesday they will present Reginald Denny in "Out All Night," and Leatrice Joy in "Vanity."

The feature picture for Wednesday and Thursday will be "Nevada," with Gary Cooper, Thelma Todd and Wm. Powell in the leading roles. Next Friday there will be special stage attractions in addition to "The Music Master," in which Alec B. Francis and Lois Moran have the leading roles.

SUMMONS TO ESTABLISH TITLE

Action No. 13876.

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of San Mateo.

Matthew C. Callan, Plaintiff, vs. All persons claiming any interest in, or lien upon, the real property herein described or any part thereof, defendants.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA:

To all persons claiming any interest in, or lien upon, the real property herein described or any part thereof, defendants, greeting:

You are hereby notified to appear and answer the complaint of Matthew C. Callan, plaintiff, filed with the Clerk of the above entitled Court and County, within three months after the first publication of this Summons, and to set forth what interest or lien, if any, you have in or upon that certain real property or any part thereof, situated in the County of San Mateo, State of California, particularly described as follows:

All of Lots 1 and 4 of West End Homestead Association as per map thereof filed in the office of the Recorder of the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, March 26, 1863, and recorded in Book "C" and "D" of Maps, at page 63, and also as per map entitled "Map of the Property of the West End Homestead Association", filed for record in the office of the Recorder of the County of San Mateo, State of California, on January 25, 1865, in Liber 4 of Deeds, at page 415.

And you are hereby notified that, unless you so appear and answer, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: That it be adjudged that the plaintiff is the owner of said property in fee simple absolute; that his title to said property be established and quieted; that the Court ascertain and determine all estates, rights, titles, interests and claims in and to said property, and every part thereof, whether the same be legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, and whether the same consists of mortgages or liens of any description; that plaintiff recover his costs herein and have such other and further relief as may be meet in the premises.

Witness my hand and the seal of this Court.

Dated December 23, 1927.
(SEAL.)
ELIZABETH M. KNEESE, Clerk.
By G. R. WINTER, Deputy Clerk.
Franklin Swart, Attorney for Plaintiff.

SHE WENT FROM BAD TO WORSE

Down to 98 Pounds — Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble." —Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? Happiness?

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Fretfulness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic; constipation; diarrhea; or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

An increase of 984 in the population of California's penal institutions, schools, homes and hospitals during 1927 was reported last week by the State department of institutions. The population at the end of 1927 was 22,534. A year ago it was 21,550. The gain was principally in the inmates of the prisons and hospitals, although the number of charges cared for at feeble-minded homes likewise gained considerably.

Los Angeles County led the State in marriages during the last twelve months, with 16,875, while Alpine county, boasting but one wedding, came last. With San Francisco second in the State at large and Alameda county third. Marriages dropped off somewhat after the so-called "gin-marriage" statute became effective at the end of July. The estimate for 1927 is 53,498, or 12.6 per 1,000 population. This is contrasted with 56,664 weddings during the previous year, when the rate was 13.7.

There were 29.6 suicides per 100,000 population in this State during 1927, according to the State estimate. The statement gave 1,240 suicides for the year just ended and 1,118 for 1926. Available records on deaths from external causes, including homicides, give a total of 4,100 for 1927 and 4,803 for 1926 in California. The estimated rate was 96.8 per 100,000 population for the last year, a marked decrease under the rate of 116.3 for the previous calendar year.

Two State highway and bridge contracts involving over $33,000 were awarded last week by Bert B. Meek, State director of public works. G. D. Contoules of San Francisco received an $11,857 contract for grading three miles of highway east of Jackson, Amador county. A $21,971 contract went to Paul M. White of Santa Monica for erection of a bridge over Aliso Creek, north of San Juan Capistrano, Orange county, and widening another bridge near Tustin, also in Orange county.

The California quarantine on mussels, ordered last July following 28 cases of mussel poisoning, six of which proved fatal, was lifted by the department of public health in six districts last week, but will remain in full force in all other parts of the State. Dr. Walter M. Dickie, State director of public health, lifted the quarantine on mussels at Candle Stick Point, Bay Shore, San Mateo county; Coronado Beach, San Diego county; Monterey, Monterey county; Sierra Point, West Berkeley; Wine Haven, Contra Costa county, and Marine Island, Point Richmond, Contra Costa county.

The value of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc produced at mines in California in 1927, according to the estimate of J. M. Hill of the United States Bureau of Mines, department of commerce at Washington, was $16,768,500, a decrease of $3,282,301 or 16 per cent, as compared with the value of metals produced in 1926. There were apparently decreased yields of about 2 per cent in gold, 30 per cent in the value of silver, 26 per cent in the value of copper, 73 per cent in the value of zinc produced as compared with the previous year.

Larceny is the most prevalent crime among California law-breakers, and burglary and forgery come next, if extradition records for the last year, made public at Sacramento last week, can be taken as a criterion of conditions. Out of 185 requests for extradition made on other states by Governor C. C. Young during 1927, forty-one cases involved larceny, according to Keith Carlin, the Governor's executive secretary. Next on the list were 22 burglary cases and 21 complaints involving forgeries. There were also 21 bad check cases. Carlin reported that robbery and embezzlement also figured largely in the extradition cases and that fourteen requests were made for return of alleged California murderers.

One of the most important announcements in the Grass Valley mining district for several years is that of the discovery of an eight to twelve foot ledge in virtually virgin ground in the Idaho-Maryland Mine. Errol MacBoyle, president of the present Idaho-Maryland Company, confirmed the discovery in a statement and declared his belief that it marked a new epoch for this historic property which has produced from $23,000,000 to $25,000,000. The ledge carries free gold and excellent values in milling ore. Many high-grade specimens have been recovered, but no bonanza deposits have been found so far in the explorations, which are still limited. The studies of MacBoyle, Crase and other engineers indicate that it reaches the surface through virgin ground, thus affording a very large mining area

The Telephone and Telegraph Division of the Railroad Commission has just completed another busy year of active supervision and regulation of the 141 utilities in the telephone, telegraph, or telephone and telegraph business in the state of California. At the present time, there are approximately 1,098,000 connected telephone stations in California, an increase of more than six per cent over the number in service as of December 31, 1926. California has the largest ratio of telephones per capita of population in the United States.

Washing gravel estimated worth $40 a ton has begun at the Vallecito Western mine, near Angels Camp, on an ancient river channel. The gravel is exceptionally rich, as $10 is considered a satisfactory value to the ton.

The new California law advancing the age of majority for girls from 18 to 21 years, effective last July, is not retroactive, Attorney General U. S. Webb ruled last week in an opinion to Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, state director of social welfare. The attorney general said there "is no question that a girl who reaches the age of 18 prior to July 28, 1927, has attained her majority."

Ground has been broken for the new $300,000 Animal Science Building at the College of Agriculture, University of California, at Davis. The plans now call for the addition of a new wing, made possible by the low bid submitted by the contractor, K. E. Parker Company.

The extent of drunken driving on California highways was indicated last week when the State division of motor vehicles announced that 292 out of 502 revocations of operators and chauffeurs licenses during 1927 involved cases where automobiles were driven by intoxicated persons. The 502 cases cited by the State division include all violations of the motor vehicle act or cancelled during the last twelve months.

Money appropriated by the legislature for specific purposes in the department of education cannot be consolidated into a general fund, to be disbursed along other lines, according to an opinion rendered to William John Cooper, head of the department by Attorney General U. S. Webb. The question came up in connection with an appropriation of $114,140 included in the 1927 budget for the support of the State Board of Education.

The Disabled Veterans of the World War, department of California, last week filed incorporation papers with the Secretary of State as a non-profit organization with headquarters in San Francisco. The papers were submitted by Richard C. Queen, Fred Schmidt and James Forrest of San Francisco, and Arthur Shepperd, Fresno; Frank McDermott, San Bernardino, and Manford Bennett, Fall Brook.

Both births and deaths increased in California during 1927, while marriages, under the new three-day wedding notice law, showed a decrease, according to the official estimate of the State Department of Public Health announced last week by L. E. Ross, chief of the bureau of vital statistics. Doctor Stork delivered 84,400 babies in California during the last twelve months, as compared with 82,372 in 1926, Ross estimated, though the birth rate remained at 19.9 per 1,000 population. On this basis the California baby crop for 1927 amounted to approximately 253 1-5 tons. Deaths were placed at 62,200 for the year, or 14.7 per 1,000 population. In 1926 there were 58,742 deaths and the rate was 14.2.

A preliminary investigation of California's newest potential volcano—Glass mountain in the Modoc lava beds, Modoc county, has just been made by R. H. Finch, director of the Lassen Volcano Observatory, and George L. Collins of the National Park Service. Reports had come in from the forest service rangers of the Modoc National Forest that an area of Glass mountain had been discovered where vents were steaming copiously and emitting strong odors of sulphur. Glass mountain, which is considered a part of the Lassen volcano unit, is a peak 7,850 feet high and lies about seventy-five miles north of Mt. Lassen.

By refusing to accept $1,500,000 offered to him by the Bancitaly Corporation and making a gift of it to the University of California, A P. Giannini, founder of the Bank of Italy, has put theory into practice. He believes in a wider distribution of wealth. The gift will be known as the Giannini Foundation. President W. W. Campbell of the university announced. One-third of the amount will be used to complete the agricultural unit of buildings of the campus by the erection of Giannini Hall. On account of the banker's deep interest in agricultural problems, all activities of the foundation will be embraced in the field of agricultural economics.

Expressing belief that the California unemployment situation can be materially remedied by increased highway construction activities, the State administration last week announced that new road building and maintenance projects involving approximately $13,000,000 will be placed under contract within the next six months. The announcement was made by Bert B. Meek, State director of public works, as the result of a conference with Governor C. C. Young on steps to provide early employment for California laborers. New construction enterprises to be placed under contract between now and June will entail expenditure of about $6,000,000, Meek said.

Patroling of the State highways in anything but motorcycles will be a thing of the past as soon as the dry weather comes, according to the announcement made at Sacramento by Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles. Snook declared that experience has shown the motorcycle is vastly superior to the automobile for patrol purposes. Not only has it greater speed, he said, but when a traffic officer is pursuing a speeder in an automobile, he becomes as great a menace to life and limb as the speeder himself.

"If you want to live in a kind of a town,
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new;
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town;
It isn't the town—it's you."

WINTER DISHES

This is the time of the year when we enjoy steamed puddings and richer sauces.

Steamed Plum Pudding. -- Take one-half cupful of mixed fruit such as dates, figs and citron, one and one-half cupfuls of raisins cut into bits, dredge with a spoonful of flour. Take one cupful of suet finely chopped, one cupful of molasses, one cupful of milk, three cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful each of cloves and allspice. Mix all together and place in buttered molds, filling two-thirds full. Steam three hours and serve with:

Lemon Hard Sauce.—Cream four tablespoonfuls of butter with two cupfuls of confectioners' sugar. As soon as it is smooth and well blended add strained lemon juice in small quantities. Beat until fluffy, pile on a dish and set to harden.

Graham Pudding.—Take two cupfuls of graham flour, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in one cupful of sour milk, one cupful of molasses, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of cloves, one cupful each of raisins and nuts. Mix well and steam in a mold three hours.

Queen of Puddings.—Put into a double boiler one quart of milk and one-half box of gelatin. When dissolved add the beaten yolks of four eggs. Let it come to a boil, then add whites beaten stiff with one-half cupful of sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Remove at once from the heat and pour into an oblong pan rinsed in cold water. When molded turn onto a platter and serve with cream. This pudding is best made the day before serving. Serve sliced, as ice cream, as it will be in two layers.

Common Foods.

Careful seasoning and cooking with nice serving makes an ordinary dish, though plain, attractive. Mutton should be more often on our tables. When it is properly handled it is a most tasty meat. The woolly flavor will be unnoticed if the skin is carefully removed.

Mock Venison.—Hang a leg of mutton in a cool place to ripen as long as possible; this adds to its tenderness as well as flavor. Take off the skin and place in a deep kettle; cover with the following: Three heads of garlic, one-half ounce of peppercorns, one-fourth ounce of crushed allspice, six bay leaves, a dozen sprigs of thyme, the same of parsley, all brought to boil in three cupfuls of vinegar. Allow the meat to remain in this pickle, covering the meat with thinly sliced onions until the next day. Rub the meat well with this when it is first put over it and again the next day; turn over and cover the other side with the sliced onions. Continue this for four days, then drain and wipe the meat dry. Rub for half an hour with a pint of hot molasses. Now hang the meat in a cool place until the following day. Roast as a leg of mutton. Serve with currant jelly or spiced grape jelly.

Beef and Corn Pudding.—Take a can of corn and one pound of lean beef; put through the meat grinder. In a saucepan brown one tablespoonful of fat with one tablespoonful of minced onion; cook for two minutes, then add one tablespoonful of browned flour. Add one cupful of soup stock, salt and pepper to taste and cook until smooth. Into a buttered baking dish put layers of corn and beef, season with salt and pepper and add the thickened sauce. Cover and bake in a moderate oven. Uncover, sprinkle with cheese and serve when the cheese is melted.

Fruit Salad.—Fresh pears cut into quarters with orange and grapefruit in sections arranged between the pear quarters is a most delicious combination. Serve with:

Golden Dressing.—Take three tablespoonfuls of orange juice, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-half cupful of sugar, a few grains of salt, place in a double boiler and add one slightly beaten egg. Cook until smooth and thick. Cool, and just before serving add one-half cupful of cream beaten stiff.

Almond Torte.—Take one cupful of granulated sugar, beat with the yolks of six eggs and the juice of half a lemon for fifteen minutes. Mix one-half teaspoonful of baking powder with one-half pound of finely ground almonds. Now add the stiffly beaten whites of the six eggs, grated lemon rinds and bake one hour in a very slow oven.

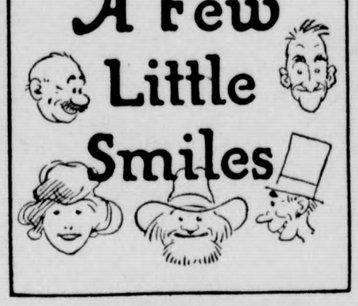
A Few Little Smiles



THE PRICE HE PAID

A farmer's wife shipped a crate of eggs to a wholesale house in a city, but before doing so she wrote on one of them:

"I got a penny for this egg. What did you pay for it?"

She added her name and address.

A year later she received an answer. It was written on the highly embellished stationery of an actor.

"My dear madam," he wrote, "while playing the part of Hamlet, recently, I received your egg for nothing."

"We have only one complaint against our cook."

"What is that?"

"We can never tell whether she is singing happily at her work or whether she has burnt herself and is in pain."

Convenient

Talkative Woman (on board ship)—Can you swim?

Sailor—Only at times, ma'am.

Talkative Woman—Only at times! How strange! And when do these moments of ability come to you?

Sailor—In the water, ma'am.

"She has little weight as a musician."

"Yet she pounds the piano with every ounce of her strength."

Overinformed

"In a short time," asserted the energetic statesman, "we'll have some further investigations."

"Good heaven!" sighed Senator Sorghum. "Don't we know enough?"—Washington Star.

Feminine Logic

Binks—We'll patch up all our old troubles, won't we, dear?

Mrs. Binks—You know I hate patched things. We'll have to have new ones.

Not Necessary

Jones—I fixed up a match for you with Blinx.

Smith—Thanks, old man, I hope you told him what a ham I am.

Jones—No, I didn't, Blinx seems to know.

BURY NAVAL TRAGEDY

While discussions and investigations continue relative to the latest Naval disaster, the sinking of the S-4, plans are being made, according to a recent dispatch, to bury the remainders of a former tragedy of the sea, in which American ships were the victims.

Since the night of September 8, 1923, when they crashed upon a California reef, the wrecks of seven destroyers have lain with their decaying hulks protruding above the surface, gruesome reminders of one of the worst navigational blunders of all time. Each passing ship and thousands of spectators on shore have since viewed these wrecks, and the Navy Department desires to have them destroyed and buried beneath the waves, instead of permitting them to remain as monuments to that blunder.

These ships were proceeding from San Francisco to San Diego, when an error in navigation by the leading vessel, which apparently was not detected by those following, caused all seven to hit a reef while going at full speed, resulting in the loss of twenty-three lives and about $13,000,000 worth of ships.

While Naval regulations require each vessel to check its navigation, it appears that in this instance all blindly followed the leader, with the disastrous result described.

It is well that the visual evidence of such negligence should be destroyed, perhaps, yet it might be a good thing if every young Naval officer could have a look at it, as a warning against taking such things for granted, particularly at sea.

DUEL IN THE AIR

Like most others, we had supposed that fighting in the air first occurred since the advent of airplanes, which were first used for combat on a large scale during the World war.

A recent writer who has been digging into French archives, declares, however, that at least one aerial battle was staged as far back as 1808.

According to the story, in that year two Frenchmen named Granpre and Le Pipue quarreled over a lady with which both were enamored, and agreed to fight a duel for her hand.

It was arranged that each should ascend in a balloon and shoot it out in the air. On the appointed day they ascended from the garden of the Tuilleries palace in Paris in the presence of a vast throng who had gathered to witness the event. At a signal from the ground they opened fire at each other's balloons, that of Le Pique being punctured and he crashing to his death. Granpre landed safely about seven miles away and won the lady.

Perhaps this incident gave rise to the common saying applied to a poor marksman: "He couldn't hit a balloon."

Evolution is said to have produced a new kind of weasel in Louisiana, but the critter is not likely to cross the Mississippi line.

NEW CALENDAR PLAN

Another effort to revise the calendar, so as to make each month contain exactly four weeks, is being considered by a committee of the League of Nations. Several plans have been suggested, but one proposed by M. B. Cotsworth, director of the International Fixed Calendar League, appears to meet with most favor.

Briefly, his proposal is to divide the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, every week and month to begin on Sunday, with the extra month inserted between June and July. It would be necessary to have an additional day at the end of December, and an extra day in leap year, but these would not take the name of any day of the week.

Thus each day of every month would always come on the same day of the week—Sundays on the 1st, 8th, 15th and 22nd; Mondays on the 2nd, 9th, 16th and 23rd, and so on.

From a practical standpoint the proposed calendar would have many advantages and would greatly simplify the keeping of accounts, computing pay rolls, calculating interest, recording statistical data and the like.

Sentimentally, it would play havoc with anniversaries and church feasts by requiring other days to be substituted for those now observed. Those born on the 29th to 31st, inclusive, of any month would be legislated out of their birthdays.

Still, the same thing has happened many times in the past when calendar changes have been made, and no one appears to have been harmed by the process.

OIL FAMINE REMOTE

Recently the second report of the Oil Conservation Board, composed of the Secretaries of the Interior, War, Navy and Commerce, was made to President Coolidge, and discussed the problem of meeting the ever-increasing demand for gasoline and other petroleum products.

The report stated that "an oil famine is not imminent, but prudence must always envisage the possibility of an oil shortage." Looking forward to the time when natural supplies of crude oil will be depleted, it is stated that the production of liquid fuel from shales, coal, and even corn, are among the possibilities, whenever the demand is sufficient to warrant the expense of converting these raw materials for such use.

Commendation is given to the oil industry, not only for its co-operation with the board, but for its constructive efforts toward conservation, both by the adoption of better methods of production and by improvements in refining processes, whereby much more gasoline and other useful products are obtained from each barrel of crude oil than formerly.

During the last week in June, 1927, a daily production of 2,587,105 barrels of crude oil in the United States broke all records. Daily production at present is approximately 2,400,000 barrels, which is considerably above current requirements.

This enormous production can hardly be maintained indefintely, however, and it is well that government agencies, as well as the oil industry, are looking many years ahead with the view to developing new sources of gasoline supply.

RURAL COMMUNITIES NEED DOCTORS

An urgent need of physicians is said to exist in dozens of rural communities in Maine, where the situation has become so serious that a law was enacted in 1925 authorizing towns to subsidize doctors with public funds where necessary.

It is reported that several towns are offering as much as $1,000 a year to induce physicians to locate, but in many cases without success. The old family doctors of these small communities are either dying or becoming incapacitated, and the young medical graduates "do not choose" to settle in these small towns. They prefer taking their chances in the cities, in spite of the strong competition they must face.

The situation reported from Maine is said to exist in hundreds of towns and villages throughout the country, in consequence of which thousands of families find themselves many miles from a doctor upon whom they may call in an emergency.

This condition will probably be relieved to a large extent when good roads and rural telephone lines become more extended, but for the present it presents one of the most serious handicaps of rural life in many sections.

WAR OVER LOST CAT

According to a recent writer the war between the French and the Druse tribesmen of Syria in 1925 was caused by a lost cat, whose disappearance in turn resulted in some lost whiskers—but not the cat's whiskers.

As the story goes, a favorite cat belonging to the French governor of Damascus was missing and he accused the tribesmen of stealing the animal. He arrested six sheiks and warned them that unless the cat was returned within twenty-four hours he would cut off their whiskers. They pleaded innocence, but at the expiration of the time limit the beards were snipped off.

Faling to get satisfaction for this indignity from General Sarrail, the French commander, the Druses went on the warpath in a campaign which cost many lives on both sides.

Whether this was the real cause of the revolt we can can not vouch, but is is no more ridiculous than some other incidents which have led to war.

Senator Heflin advises the Democrats to nominate a strong Western man for president and a strong Southern man for vice-president. Now, who in the world is he thinking of as a candidate for vice-president?

GIRLS' CLUB MEETING

On Thursday evening February 2, the Girls' Club of Colma held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Pauline Brown on Dunk street, after a delicious Spanish supper which was had at Estrada Spanish Kitchen. Much business was transacted during the evening and extensive plans were made for the big whist and social party that the Girls' Club of Colma will give in March. The proceeds to be derived from this benefit will go toward the purchasing of magazines for the soldiers at Palo Alto. This is a yearly event which the Girls' Club has handled for some time, and has proven a decided success. A beautiful hand embroidered table-cloth has been made by the girls who meet at the different homes once a week, and will be on display in the near future.

The Girls' Club, who are well known for their entertaining, plan many surprises for the evening, and a jolly time can be looked for. Further notice as to this jolly game will be published later in the Daly City Record.

ALBERIANS COMPLETE PLANS FOR DANCE NEXT TUESDAY

What promises to be one of the most successful of the many pre-Lenten social functions now being held by the various local branches of the Young Ladies' Institute is the Valentine novelty dance to be given by the Alberian Auxiliary of that organization in Hotel Whitcomb roof garden next Tuesday evening, February 7.

Arrangements for the affair, in the hands of an active committee of young women headed by Mrs. Kathleen Egan, are practically completed, and indications point to a record attendance, including members, relatives and friends, and also delegations from other branches of the Young Ladies' and Young Men's Institutes and other organizations. A well konwn orchestra of jazz symphonists is to furnish the music. The Misses Lena Buchingnani and Rose Stavasta are active members of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

Wednesday evening of last week the Alberians installed their newly elected officers. Miss Florentin Schage, grand president, and other officers, as well as many from other institutes, were present. At the conclusion of the ceremonies there was entertainment, after which supper was served. Mrs. Mary Coghlan was the chairman of the evening.

The last event on the Alberians social calendar until after Lent is the anniversary birthday dinner-dance to be held in Peacock court of Mark Hopkins Hotel on Saturday evening, February 18.

Meely decided that for at least a few weeks she could breathe freely, and feel comparatively secure from the danger of a visit.

And that very morning, just after recess time, as the children were trooping in from the playground, he walked in on her.

"Oh, dear, you here again!" she openly lamented as he, without offering her his hand, bowed rather curtly and drew forth a platform chair—not, however, seating himself while she stood, a courtesy to which she had, for so many months, been a stranger, that it thrilled her, to her amusement, almost as much as St. Croix' "manners" had thrilled Nettie the night before.

"I'm here," he grimly stated, standing behind his chair and folding his arms with a resolute, Napoleonic air that made her heart sink, "to hear you teach geography!"

"Here I stand—so help me Gawd!" she mocked at his determined mien. "Martin Luther!"

"And I don't leave this schoolroom until I have heard you!"

"Oh, gee!" she sighed.

He set his lips and stared straight ahead of him.

"I've had this school on my conscience since you yourself admitted that you can't teach. We can't let these children suffer from your—excuse me—incompetence. Will you call a geography class, Miss—Schwenckton?"

Did he or did he not hesitate over her name? She could not feel sure.

"But why this passionate interest in geography?" she complained. "Aren't you longing to see me teach spelling? I'll call a spelling class—"

"Geography, if you please."

"I suppose," she said accusingly, "you just want to expose me as not knowing any geography of the United States! Well, if you call that chivalrous—"

"I'm not here to be chivalrous, but to hear you teach."

"Why won't spelling do?"

"I prefer geography."

"Just because I jokingly pretended to think there were forty-seven states instead of fifty-seven!—and told you that when I was a mere child, I thought the Mississippi river ran east and west!"

"Exactly."

"Well," she said reflectively, "well, Mr. Creighton, before I take your request into consideration, will you tell me what is the extent of your power over my job? Can you take it from me?"

"I can advise your school board to take it from you. But," he hastily added, "of course I don't want to! I'd hate like the dickens—" Again he pulled himself up. "I should greatly dislike," he said primly, "to resort to such stringent measures."

"That's better—sounds more professional," she encouraged him. "Be professional or die!"

The children of the school were all seated now—rigidly upright in the presence of that magnate, the county superintendent—and Meely could no longer daily with the situation; she must decide what to do. She might repeat the successful geography lesson she had already given that morning on Italy—though a deliberate repetition of the whole performance would be so astonishing to the children as to be embarrasing to their teacher! For Venice, she had given them the songs of the gondoliers, and impersonations of Portia and Shylock; for Naples, street beggars and coral workers; for Rome, impersonations of Caesar and Mark Antony with tales of gladiators interspersed; for Florence, impersonations of Savonarola and the Medici. Much more than the school had been able to digest at one dose, but she had enjoyed it, feeling how cleverly she was doing it—ah, there was the rub! She did it too cleverly, too professionally. She could not risk offering it to Marvin Creighton.

Well, then, nothing left but to try to give a geography lesson in the prosaic, uninteresting way she had seen it done in a school she had visited, where the teacher, for a weary half hour, had had the children telling glibly what states enclosed other states. What had the teacher called that—a certain word she had used?

"I'll bore this man so he'll keep away from here for the rest of his life!" she determined.

"Zebilla," she addressed the brightest girl of the class that she summoned to stand before the desk, while she and the superintendent now sat behind it, "enclose the state of Pennsylvania."

Zebilla looked blank. "What's that I'm to do?"

"Enclose Pennsylvania," repeated Meely confidently.

Zebilla still looked unenlightened—even dazed. "I wouldn't know how to. I don't know right how you mean—enclose it!"

Meely saw she had gotten the wrong word. "I mean—surround it; tell what states, if any, surround it—or what bodies of water, or whatever does enclose, surround or circumscribe it!" she explained desperately.

"Ach, do you mean, Miss Schwenckton, I'm to bound Pennsylvania?"

"That's the word—yes, bind it."

A snort from the county superintendent was a signal for the amazed school and they broke into a roar of laughter that revealed to the embarrassed teacher how seriously she had erred. Her face flushed crimson. She hated this monster sitting on her platform laughing till the desk shook!

She rapped for order. The school became quiet. "Proceed," she said to Zebilla coldly.

"Pennsyl-wania is bounded on the north—"

When Zebilla had finished, Meely took as long a time as possible in drilling her to pronounce the letter V by catching her lower lip between her teeth. She prolonged this drilling to the point of absurdity, for if she called on any other pupil of this class to bound a state, she herself would have to keep her eyes glued to the map to see that they got it right. With Zebilla Zook that had not been necessary, for Zebilla could be depended upon to answer correctly. She always knew her lessons with depressing thoroughness. So it was not until the poor girl became restive and resentful under her prolonged drilling that the teacher desisted.

"Bind Connecticut, Hiram," she at last proceeded most reluctantly.

"Connecticut is bounded on the north by Massachusetts, on the east by Rhode Island—"

"Oh, come, an island can't bind anything. What is an island, Hiram?" she asked, very pleased at Hiram's blunder, for here she could be sure of her ground; she did at least know the forms of land and water!

"But Rhode Island," said Hiram, gazing at her almost in horror, "ain't no island—"

Her finger on the map, she could see for herself, now, that it wasn't—and turning hot and cold with consternation, she yet tried to save herself. "Very good, Hiram—I was trying to catch you up! Of course we all know how it came to be called an island? Zebilla?"

But Zebilla, her stand-by, failed her there—she did not know!

"I'll ask the class," said Meely hastily, "to look that up for next lesson."

She feared she was not succeeding in her plot to "bore" the superintendent. She saw, in a quick side glance, that he looked anything but bored. Indeed, he seemed to be enjoying himself. Probably he'd stay the rest of the day! Oh, how she hated and despised him! Conceited pedagogue!

After a few more states had been bound (her eyes and finger fastened the while to the map) she heaved a sigh of relief and dismissed the class to their seats.

"Now you've had your heart's desire and have heard me teach geography. What further," she inquired with dignity, "can I do for you?"

"I leave it to you," he bowed, making no move whatever to go.

She decided to call up a reading class. There were no serious pitfalls for her in American literature. That is, if she could manage to resist the temptation to act out the reading lesson, in case it happened to be a "piece" (as the pupils would say) that lured her to a dramatic execution of it!

She settled that danger by ordering the class to turn to a speech of Theodore Roosevelt's. And too late she realized her mistake. The speech abounded in political allusions which none but a native American would understand. If only no one asked any questions! They so seldom did manifest curiosity about anything—but it would be just like the perversity of fate to inspire one of them to show off before the superintendent.

A hand was raised—the youngest little girl in the class. "Please, Miss Schwenckton, what does G. A. R. mean?"

Meely beamed with pleasure, for this was a question she could, as luck would have it, answer with convincing intelligence. She rejoiced that little Becky had been moved to ask it.

"The G. A. R. is a society of American women," she blithely replied, "the Granddaughters of the American Revolution, whose ancestors came over in the Mayflower."

* * * * * * *

"Well," said Meely icily, as she stood with the superintendent behind her desk at the end of the morning session, "I suppose that awful conscience of yours will force you to advise the school board to discharge me for 'incompetence'!"

They were practically alone now, those of the pupils who did not go home for the noon meal having gone out of doors to eat their luncheon.

Mr. Creighton shook his head. "No, I can't be expected always to act disinterestedly for the good of society—I'm only human, after all—and yours is the only schoolroom I've ever visited that hasn't bored me to death! Whenever I'm dull and need a riot of fun, I can just drop in here and hear you teach geography! No, I cannot rise to such heights of altruism as to recommend your dismissal! It's asking too much! I'm only hu—"

"Well, believe me," she retorted resentfully, "you'll not get a chance to sit 'round here making fun of me—I'll resign!" She turned away haughtily—but she was too good an actress not to know that she was not tall enough to look haughty impressively—and suddenly, without warning, she found herself crying. Desperately she fought to control herself, more mortified at such a childish display than she could possibly feel over perfectly excusable ignorance of a vast patchwork quilt of states, or of the fine distinctions between American alphabetical symbols—D. A. R.'s and G. A. R.'s! Useless information anyway!

But the strain of the morning had been too much for her and she could not stop crying. Her breath came in little gasping sobs, her shoulders heaved, she fumbled for her handkerchief—and not finding it, she jerked open a desk drawer, dragged out a towel and buried her face in it.

"Oh, but my child!—you poor kid!" Mr. Creighton unprofessionally and very remorsefully exclaimed. "I didn't want to hurt your feelings! Oh, please!" he begged in distress, laying a reassuring hand on her arm. "Come, come, don't cry! You're not going to be thrown out of your school—and I swear I won't laugh at you any more!"

She wiped her nose and her eyes with a corner of the towel. "I'd better resign!" she said dolefully, "or you'll be lying awake nights thinking of all the education those children are missing just because you were too weak to withstand a girl's tears!"

"Well," he said ruefully, though gently, "you have got me up a tree, you know! How you ever got a Kutztown Normal school diploma on your knowledge of United States geography—" She showed signs of weeping again, so he hastily veered off. "All right, let's never mention geography again! I do admit that the pupils in your school are more alert and wide-awake than any children in the county! There, doesn't that comfort you?"

She smiled dazzlingly through her tears. "Oh, but then I'm a success as a teacher!—since the whole purpose of teaching children must be to brighten up their wits, not to stuff states and names into them! It is not what I pour into them, but what I lead them to give out!"

"Ah, yes, but there's a lot of necessary drudgery in teaching which can't be side-stepped, my child; which really must be done. So if you'll be good and get down to hard work here—"

"But indeed I do! These things I do, yet do not leave the higher matters of the spirit undone. I do assure you."

He looked skeptical, but evidently did not feel it safe to pursue the subject, her bright eyes looking too ready to shed tears again.

"I'm keeping you from eating your lunch," he suddenly said, reaching reluctantly for his hat and coat.

Tradition Bars Jews' Union With Gentiles

The American Hebrew says that the tradition against intermarriage among Jews is traced back to Abraham, who ordered his estate manager, Eliezer, to obtain a wife for Isaac from among his, Abraham's, own people, in Aramea. It should be added that this is only a tradition. It became a practice among Jews at the time they returned from the Babylonian exile in the Fifth century before the common era. Intermarriage, however, has taken place among Jews at all times. The reason why Jews have clung to the tradition of Abraham and the enactment of Ezra lies in the psychology of group consciousness, especially as this is welded by the religious ideal. The belief of the Jews that they are a people chosen by God to disseminate knowledge of Him and His moral and ethical will among the peoples of the world is also a great factor motivated by the desire to hold to its mission in the world and, probably, also by the fear lest intermarriage should weaken the force for carrying out its mission.

Vain Search for Treasure

An Australian miner spent part of his life in the bush trying to refind a mine his partner found and died in describing. But he never succeeded, and, eventually, the bushmen stumbled on his skeleton. A party of French scientists narrowly escaped death from thirst in the Sahara seeking traces of a lost caravan of precious stones that never reached Timbuctoo, and was supposed to have been overwhelmed by a sandstorm, lost its tracks, and missed the wells.

CLYMER TO STICK AS BISON LEADER

"Derby Bill" Has Signed His Contract for 1928.

"Derby Bill" Clymer will lead the Buffalo Bisons in the International league race next season, says the New York World. Clymer has signed his 1928 contract.

Clymer won the International league pennant in his first year as manager of the Bisons, but fell before the attack of Casey Stengel's Toledo Mudhens in the "Little World series." But he'll have to rebuild a new team next season, for the majority of his 1927 champions will not be with him this year.

Andy Cohen, the young Texas infielder, and "Blackie" Carter will return to the Giants and go South with McGraw's team. Del Bissonette, the clouting first baseman, belonged to the Robins and will be with the Flatbush flock next season fighting Babe Herman and "Gink" Hendrick for the job at the initial bag.

Albert "Ty" Tyson has been sold on option to the Robins and probably will not be back with the Bisons for the 1928 International league race. Tyson is a big league outfielder for he can hit, run and go after a fly ball. He was released by McGraw after the season started and played a prominent part in winning the International league race for Clymer.

Ball players claimed that Robbie is just the man that Tyson needs to make him a big league star. He will not have to carry out as many orders with the Robins as he did with the Giants and will be easier at the plate. With Robbie to pat him on the back now and then, Tyson should develop into one of the best outfielders in the National league this year. It is almost a certainty that Robbie will not return to the Buffalo club.

Clymer also lost two of his best pitchers in Mangum and Falk, a young left hander and brother of "Bib" Falk of the Chicago White Sox. Falk was recalled by the St. Louis Browns and Mangum by the Washingtons.

Added to this, Lew Malone, the second baseman, and Fred Brainero have announced their retirement from the game and will not return to the Bisons. Then, too, Jack Hollingsworth, one of the Bison's best pitchers, has asked to be placed on the ineligible list.

But "Derby Bill" is not worrying about next season.

"We'll have another championship team next season," said Clymer the other day.

No Hotel Episode in Rock Island

One day when Heinie Zimmerman was playing in Chicago, the pass-gate man at the Cubs park sent a note out to Zim informing him that a man named Kelly from Rock Island wanted him to identify him for free entrance.

"I don't know any Kelly from Rock Island," was the word Zimmerman sent back.

"Sure he knows me," insisted the would-be gate crasher. "Ask him if he doesn't remember the hotel episode in Rock Island?"

"That proves he's a fake," answered Zim, "there ain't no Hotel Episode in Rock Island."

"Yellow Streaks" Are Declared to Be Curable

A study of "yellow streaks" as found in college competition has just been completed by Coleman R. Griffith, head of the athletics research department of the University of Illinois.

His conclusion is that "yellowness" is rarely inherited, and that it may be overcome by proper and patient treatment.

"A few men are cowardly by nature," he said, "but most men grow cowardly or unaggressive because their youth furnished them no opportunity to learn agrressiveness. The mere fact that 'yellow streaks' are acquired places a tremendous responsibility upon the coach.

"The 'yellow streak' may be got rid of only by a patient application of oneself to hard tasks. This application must continue until habits of taking the initiative and being aggressive are fully established."

Odd Fear of Camera Not Yet Eradicated

There are many parts of the world where the camera is not only disliked but feared by primitive people, in many cases even by those who understand very well its use and purpose.

American Indians are a good example. Most of them have a strong aversion to being photographed, especially the older ones. Younger Indians may fear also, but not so much that they will not pose for a price.

Recently a woman was almost mobbed by Rumanian peasants because of her camera, which they feared was casting terrible spells on the village. The slaying of a United States consular agent in Persia a few years ago was because of his camera. Even in England a trace of the fear has been reported. The people of Somerset think it very unlucky to have their pictures taken.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Her Way

"If Aunt Flooty Flutters had to wait a sufficient length of time at a crossroads railway station where she had never been before," related J. Fuller Gloom, the pessimist, "she would hunt up as many as possible of the inhabitants within a radius of two miles around and get acquainted with them, so that she might do them the favor of pointing out their shortcomings and direct them toward a nobler life.

"Her funeral was attended by a great many people, and there was considerable hope expressed that she absolutely was dead."—Kansas City Times.

Dog Mourns Dead Brother

The devotion shown by Jack, a pointer dog, for his brother, Mike, dead since December 1, 1926, has become a classic story throughout southwest Virginia. Jack and Mike were born August 30, 1923. Jack was present, with his head hanging low, at the burial in a field near by. Every day since then Jack has gone to Mike's grave. It is necessary to call him to meals and at night when he is placed in his kennel, but each morning and after every meal, he returns to the grave.

Senator Borah, discussing an unsatisfactory answer that had been made to a charge of corruption, smiled and said:

"It reminds me of the English butler. His employer said to him:

"'Heuston, I bet you've been at my Scotch.'

"'Hexcuse me, sir,' said Heuston, in his haughty way. 'Hexcuse me, but I don't bet.'"

If Back Hurts Begin on Salts

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

Fleas in Costume

Mexican dressed fleas are among the interesting exhibits in a downtown shop window which has the Lindbergh flight as the inspiration for a display of Mexican curios. The fleas are so small that they can be seen only with the aid of a strong glass, but they have been skillfully arrayed in wedding clothes by native workmen. An English walnut shell has been painted to resemble the interior of a church and a dressed flea minister stands ready to marry the couple.—Detroit News.

ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Bobby Robertson, aged 13, of Red Eagle, Montana, has gained fame as a hunter by killing several deer, bear and elk.

A 10-year-old boy was attacked by a large eagle near Mount Vernon, Ill., but he succeeded in beating the bird off without serious hurt.

NINE BIG TELEPHONE CABLES PUT IN SERVICE

Nine huge submarine telephone cables in a network of communication highways considered to be among the most important in the country were laid recently in a trench eight feet below the average 30-foot channel depth of the Arthur Kill which connects between Carteret, N. J., and Linoleumville, Staten Island. These cables carry messages between such cities as New York, Newark, Philadelphia, Washington and points to the south and west.

LOUISE FAZENDA AT EMBASSY

Louise Fazenda, the ever popular comedienne of the screen, will be the star of the next attraction at the Embassy Theatre. This film is entitled "A Sailor's Sweetheart," and gives the star, together with her new partner in pictures, Clyde Cook, an ample opportunity to cavort through a labyrinth of laughs.

Miss Fazenda is seen as a dignified teacher in an exclusive school for girls. She inherits a fortune and the world commences to pay her homage. Husbands, sweethearts and suitors arrive in droves. The resulting events form the plot for one of the funniest comedies ever shown on the screen. Myrna Loy and John Miljan are others in the cast of this picture.

On the Vitaphone, Mischa Elman is the featured player. The noted violinist of the concert stage offers a pair of his most fascinating numbers, "Humouresque" and the Grossec "Gavotte." Others on the entertaining bill are The Rollickers, Cliff Nazarro, and a two act playlet, "Solomon's Children."

LOS ANGELES CALLS

An average of 1,850,000 telephone calls are made every twenty-four hours in the city of Los Angeles. More than one-ninth of these take place between the hours of 9 and 10 a. m.

Possibly the Federal Reserve Board could do something to keep the Missippi river from making runs on its banks.

No X-rays will be needed to see through a lot of forthcoming political bunk.

"Get the message through"

IN THE Sixties the "pony express" carried the mail over mountain and Indian wilderness from St. Joseph, Missouri, to San Francisco. The express riders and station keepers won undying fame for getting the message through, regardless of hardship or danger.

In fact and in spirit, the Bell System is the lineal descendant of the pony express. Operators volunteer to remain at their switchboards in the face of fire, flood or other great danger. Linemen go out to repair the lines in time of accident or storm—even at the risk of their lives.

There are no instructions requiring Bell System employees to endanger their lives. It is the spirit of communication that bids them, "Get the message through."

THE AMERICAN WAGE EARNER PROSPEROUS

"In answering the question whether 1927 has been a year of prosperity," says a feature article in the Milwaukee Journal, "it is necessary to view prosperity from two angles—corporation results and the average earnings per capita of the great army of workers. Corporation results have not been uniformly good, but the average American wage earner's share of the gross profits of industry has been greater than ever."

Backed up by undeniable facts and statistics, this statement is a conclusive answer to the reactionary minority who view the worker as a wage slave, capitalized by heartless interests. Corporations as a rule earn only a fair return on their investments. And frequently untimely legislation, or uncontrollable conditions, prevent even this. But the prosperity of the worker is rarely imperiled. He is able, without risk, to earn wages that a few years ago would have seemed the product of pipe-dreams, and to live in a fashion unthought of in any other country in the world.

There is no room for bolshevism to establish itself here. Revolt is the product of poverty and oppression, not freedom and prosperity.

NOTICE OF FILING UNPAID ASSESSMENT LIST AND OF TIME FIXED FOR HEARING.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on December 31, 1927, GEORGE A. KNEESE, Superintendent of Streets of the City of Daly City, filed with the undersigned Clerk a complete list of all assessments unpaid on account of the work done and improvement made consisting of certain work of grading, curbing, guttering and paving and other work in said city by A. G. Raisch under a contract with the Superintendent of Streets of said city entered into pursuant to the provisions of the Improvement Act of 1911, as amended, and the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, as amended, and to Resolution of Intention No. 33, and other resolutions, notices and proceedings of the City Council of said city duly adopted and taken under said acts, reference to said Resolution of Intention No. 33 passed and adopted February 28, 1927, being hereby expressly made for further particulars, and for a description of the work therein mentioned, which resolution of intention and the assessment issued by the Superintendent of Streets to the contractor containing a declaration in subtantially the following form:

Notice is hereby given that serial bonds to represent the unpaid assessments and bear interest at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum will be issued hereunder in the manner provided in the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, as amended, the last installment of which bonds shall mature nine (9) years from the second day of July next succeeding ten (10) months from their date.

Notice is hereby given that Monday, the 13th day of February, 1928, at the hour of eight (8) o'clock P. M., at the regular meeting place of said Council in the City Hall of said city, is the time and place fixed by the undersigned Clerk when interested property owners (including owners, contractors or assigns) may appear before the Council at its Council Chamber in said City Hall, and show cause why bonds should not be issued upon the security of the unpaid assessments shown on said list.

Dated: January 21, 1928.

City Clerk of the City of Daly City.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PUBLIC AUCTION.

WHEREAS, on the 16th day of November, 1926, Peter Marioni and Vera L. Marioni, his wife, executed and delivered to Aurelio Gigli and Maria Gigli, his wife, a promissory note in the sum of $3,550.00, dated the 16th day of November, 1926, and made payable in monthly installments of forty dollars or more each month with interest from the date of said note on the amount of principal remaining from time to time unpaid at the rate of seven per cent per annum; and

WHEREAS, for the purpose of securing the payment of said promissory note said Peter Marioni and Vera L. Marioni, his wife, did execute and deliver to the California Pacific Title and Trust Co., a corporation of the City and County of San Francisco, as trustee for the said Aurelio Gigli and Maria Gigli, his wife, a certain deed of trust dated November 16, 1926, and recorded on the 19th day of November, 1926, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of San Mateo, State of California, in Volume 279 of Official Records of said County at page 284, which said deed of trust described all that certain lot, piece or parcel and tract of land situate in the City of Daly City, County of San Mateo, State of California, and hereinafter particularly described; and

WHEREAS, the said Peter Marioni and Vera L. Marioni, his wife, have and each of them has made default in the payment of the principal and interest due on said promissory note hereinabove mentioned and made default in the performance of the obligations specified in the said deed of trust by them and each of them to be performed; and

WHEREAS, the said Aurelio Gigli and Maria Gigli, his wife, are still the owners and holders and beneficiaries of and under said note, and are still the beneficiaries under said deed of trust, and because of the aforesaid default and pursuant to the terms of said note and said deed of trust have elected to sell, or cause to be sold, the said real property to satisfy the said obligation, and in writing have notified the said California Pacific Title and Trust Co., a corporation, trustee aforesaid, of their election to sell, or cause to be sold, the said real property, for the purpose aforesaid, and demanding and directing the said California Pacific Title and Trust Co., a corporation, as trustee aforesaid, to sell the real property under the power and authority conferred upon the said California Pacific Title and Trust Co., a corporation, as trustee aforesaid, and in accordance with the terms of said deed of trust, to satisfy the said indebtenness and accomplish the objects and purposes created by said deed of trust; and

WHEREAS, notice of said breach and of the beneficiaries' election to cause the said real property to be sold, dated the 4th day of October, 1927, was duly given by said Aurelio Gigli and Maria Gigli, his wife, as beneficiaries under said promissory note and deed of trust by recording said notice on the 6th day of October, 1927, in the office of the said County Recorder in the said County of San Mateo, State of California, in Book 322 of Official Records of said County at page 135.

NOW THEREFORE, pursuant to said notice and demand and in accordance with the terms of and under the authority conferred by the said deed of trust, the said California Pacifc Title and Trust Co., a corporation, as trustee aforesaid, does hereby give notice that on Monday, the 6th day of February, 1928, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the steps of the main entrance of the County Court House in Redwood City, County of San Mateo, State of California, it will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, either as a whole or in such subdivision as in its judgment it may deem reasonable, for cash, lawful money of the United States, the real property consisting of all that certain lot, piece, parcel and tract of land situate in the said City of Daly City, County of San Mateo, State of California, particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 5 in Block 30, as designated on the map entitled "Map No. 1 Vista Grande, San Mateo Co., California," which map was filed in the office of the Recorder of the County of San Mateo, State of California, on November 5, 1906, in Volume "C" of Maps at page 35, and a copy thereof entered in Volume 4 of Maps at page 41.

Together with the appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining, and the rents, issues and profits thereof.

Terms of Sale: Cash, lawful money of the United States of America, payable on the fall of the hammer.

Dated: January 9th, 1928.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, George W. Lowe, also known as Geo. W. Lowe, and Ruth Lowe, his wife, as party of the first part, heretofore made, executed and delivered that certain deed of trust, bearing date the 30th day of April, 1927, to Title Insurance and Guaranty Company as party of the second part, and trustee for the benefit and security of Al Schmid and Lucille Schmid, his wife, which deed of trust was thereafter and on the 26th day of May, 1927, recorded in the office of the County Recorder of the County of San Mateo, State of California, in Liber 320 of Official Records at page 19 thereof, to secure the payment of a certain promissory note of even date with said deed of trust in the principal amount of Twenty-six Hundred Fifty ($2,650) Dollars, made, executed and delivered by said George W. Lowe, also known as Geo. W. Lowe, and Ruth Lowe, his wife, unto said Al Schmid and Lucille Schmid, his wife; and

WHEREAS, the said note and deed of trust were by instrument in writing dated the 24th day of May, 1927, and recorded on the 26th day of May, 1927, in the office of the County Recorder of said County of San Mateo in Liber 303 of Official Records at page 340 thereof, and re-recorded on the 13th day of October, 1927, in the said County Recorder's office in Liber 324 of Official Records at page 179 thereof, assigned unto Walton T. Holland, who ever since said assignment has been and is now the owner and holder thereof; and

WHEREAS, the said Walton T. Holland did on the 21st day of October, 1927, record in the office of the County Recorder of the County of San Mateo a notice of a certain breach and default in the performance of the terms of said promissory note, of his election to consider the principal amount of said promissory note and accrued interest forthwith due and payable and of his further election to sell or cause to be sold the real property in said deed of trust and hereinafter specifically described to satisfy the obligations evidenced by said promissory note and, or said deed of trust and secured by said deed of trust; and

WHEREAS, by instrument in writing dated the 17th day of January, 1928, and recorded January 18, 1928, in the office of the County Recorder of said County of San Mateo in Liber 343 of Official Records at page 309 thereof, the undersigned Raymond W. Rivers was substituted as trustee in said deed of trust in the place and stead of the original trustee named therein; and

WHEREAS, said Walton T. Holland did heretofore advise in writing the undersigned, as such substituted trustee, that at the time of and prior to the recordation of said notice default had been made for a period in excess of thirty (30) days in the payment of a certain monthly installment of interest and principal called for by said promissory note, that he had, pursuant to the terms of said promissory note, exercised his election to consider the principal amount of said promissory note and accrued interest forthwith due and payable, and that he had on the 21st day of October, 1927, recorded the aforesaid notice of said default and breach, of his election to consider said principal amount and accrued interest forthwith due and payable, and of his further election to cause said property to be sold, and did demand of the undersigned, as such substituted trustee, under the power and authority upon him conferred by said deed of trust, to sell the real property in said deed of trust and herinafter specifically described to satisfy the indebtedness evidenced by said promissory note and, or said deed of trust and secured by said deed of trust;

NOW THEREFORE, the undersigned Raymond W. Rivers, substituted trustee as aforesaid, in accordance with the terms and under the authority of said deed of trust, after due recordation of the aforesaid notice and upon the demand of the said Walton T. Holland, duly made as aforesaid, do hereby give notice that on the 20th day of February, 1928, at 11:00 A. M. of said day, at the entrance to the premises No. 193 Hillcrest Drive, in the City of Daly City, County of San Mateo, California, he will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, in lawful money of the United States of America, all of that certain, lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in the City of Daly City, County of San Mateo, State of California, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

SPLINTERS

From the H. H. Smith Lumber Yard

VOLUME I FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1928 NUMBER 27

Published in the interests of the People of Daly City and vicinity by H. H. Smith and Employees.

"Doctor," gasped a patient rushing into the medico's office, "what do you recommend for snake bite?"

"Have you been bitten by a snake?" asked the doctor.

"You answer my question first."

Mary: "And, don't you know, Agnes has married a second lieutenant."

Lou: "I didn't know she had ever been married before."

The time is ripe to consider that garage. You would not think of keeping your piano in a public warehouse. Why not keep your car at home also?

Do unto others as though you were the others.

Unpopular doctor: "Ah, I've caught you under the mistletoe."

Girl: "No, doctor, there's only one thing you'll ever have a chance of kissing me under."

Doctor: "And what's that?"

Girl: "An anesthetic."

For practical advice and dependable information on every phase of home building, our service is yours to command.

Hostess: "Mr. Jones has swallowed the wishbone. What shall we do?"

Eminent Faithhealer: "Tell him to wish he hadn't swallowed it."

"They say if there's anything in a man, travel will bring it out."

"You tell 'em! I found that out my first day at sea."

"Wheah you all bin?"

"Lookin' fo' work."

"Man! Man! Youah cu'osity gonna git you into trouble yit."

Pride that comes from being proud of your home is without limit. It has veritably moved mountains.

"There goes the old rascal who swindled me out of $50,000."

"How did he do it?"

"He refused to let me marry his daughter."

Don't wait until too late. Repair it when the trouble starts.
